

MADRID, Jan. 2.

Our letters from Cadiz state, that the squadron commanded by Admiral Alva, has sailed with a great number of troops and a large train of artillery—it will be immediately followed by another squadron, under the command of Admiral Solano. These maritime forces are destined for Mexico, and it is said to be the object to succour our establishments in that quarter, which are attacked on all sides by the Indians.

VIENNA, Feb. 26.

The departure of his royal highness arch duke Charles to the army of the lower Rhine, of which he is to be commander in chief, is fixed for the 10th of next month. His equipage consisted of 62 persons and 100 horse, besides those of the train and remount, set out from this capital on the 17th inst. Almost immediately after the arrival of his royal highness at his head quarters the campaign will be opened; it will continue to be carried on offensively, and, according to every appearance, will be still more vigorous and sanguinary than the preceding ones, it being resolved, on, as we are told, that it shall be decisive. To carry the strength of our forces to its highest possible degree, the number of troops in the different cantonments is reduced to a degree that has been unexampled in any preceding war. In those cantonments, even in those of the frontiers, but one division intended for the exercise of the new recruits, will be left. In short, all the soldiery are to march either for the Rhine or for Italy; and the place of the battalions which are to set out will be filled with recruits. On the 17th, 18th and 19th of this month, the Italian states are exasperated by the treaty with the Algerians, by which we permit these corsairs to sell their prizes in the port of Corfica. It is demanded that the English will permit them to sell their slaves also there. The merchants of Corfica will by this become the resort of these corsairs, and all the costs of the war will be involved with their hands. Is this a thing, they say, for England to countenance this the life of their new colony of Corfica.

The papers on the table of the commons there is one item of £100,000 for bills drawn from the bank and that said only to be paid by the fee simple of the soil worth half the money.

On the 12th of April, the British fleet, from Hispaniola, in 24 days confirms the account of the capture of Leogane by the British. It was attacked by a very considerable Marine armament. When the French found they could no longer hold Possession, they set fire to the town and abandoned it. Petit Gave, was expected to fall into the hands of the English, in the course of a day or two.

HAGUE, March 4. Yesterday the provincial administration of Holland was constituted and held their first sitting. This day a committee from thence appeared at the bar of the assembly, when the president informed them that the assembly would not intermeddle with the domestic affairs of any particular province.

LONDON, March 15. We have got as good a Vesper in Ireland as the French can boast of in any part of the Republic; we have another in Jamaica; and those like the original, have cost infinitely more trouble to quell them than the others were worth enough to molest.

From the London Gazette.

The king has been pleased to appoint Robert Dillon, esq. to be his majesty's envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA; and Edward Thornton, esq. to be his majesty's secretary of legation to the said UNITED STATES.

March 13.

The Paris papers to the 6th were received in town on Thursday, which brought nothing important; they only mention, that a restraint is going to be put on the liberty of the press, and that no journal (public print) will be in future permitted to circulate by the Post, except such as are acknowledged by government, and approved by the censors established by them, for the purpose of examining such publications. This restraint enrages many of the journalists against the executive directory, some of whom do not scruple to say, that such an arbitrary inquisition was never attempted even by Robespierre. Others say that they do not imagine that such a measure will pass the two councils.

A mail from Hamburg arrived this morning.—There is now hardly a possibility of any event occurring to prevent the recommencement of hostilities—all sides seem bent upon the decision of human wretchedness and misery, and only wait till the weather will permit them to take the field.

The national convention of Holland, appears at last to be organized, and proceeding to the exercise of its legislative functions.

A new field for revolution seems to be opening in the Western World. The Indians in South America have for some time been in trouble to the Spaniards, till they have at last found it necessary to lend out a considerable force for the safety of their frontiers in Mexico.—“Great things are done from small beginnings.”

NEW YORK, April 25.

By the arrivals from London and Bristol on Saturday we have London papers to March the 16th which furnish a variety of information. The most agreeable account is some prospect of peace. The only ground of this expectation is that some ministerial papers announce from high authority, that negotiations on the subject between Great Britain and France.

The ship Seigneur, of 64 guns, and the Crescent are ordered to convey 9 full of transports, with the 76th regiment and a detachment of artillery to the Cape of Good Hope.

The news of the employment of dogs from the Havannah, to hunt down the Maroons in Jamaica, excited much resentment, and were announced with the same of Commons. This conduct was compared to that of the first Spanish settlers whose barbarous treatment excited universal horror.

But aside of custom, what is the real difference in point of humanity, between setting dogs to tear men to pieces, and ordering men to shoot them.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.

There is a report from the West Indies of a French frigate of 29 having taken and carried into Guadaloupe, an English fifty gun ship.

A letter from Martinique of Feb. 27 says, that the Yellow Fever is made great havoc among the shipping there,—the mangle of 74 guns, having lost in the course of five months above 200 men and the transports have lost an equal proportion. Dr. Charles Webster, of Edinburgh, died at St. Vincent of that fatal epidemic.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of Augusta (Georgia) to his friend in this city dated April 12.

SINCE my last nothing of importance has turned up here. The sundry certificates you wished me to procure, cannot possibly be had at this time, because Clayton has not yet delivered over to Berrian a schedule of the monies in the treasury.

On my way from Washington about 8 days ago to procure the papers you wanted, but Berrian was gone to Savannah and nothing could be done; by his agent upon examining the records in the Secretary's office, I find that the Ex-Senator has omitted to confirm that part of the record which contained the mortgages, they remain entire, and being drawn up very specially they contain all the material parts of the law with a certificate on the face of them that the purchase money has been paid in full. It will appear from the monies delivered by the old to the new treasurer that Gen. Jackson had one of his warrants paid out of the Tazoo money, the other is said he kept for the purpose of paying taxes.

Few is appointed the judge for this district but the whole bar agree that the appointment is illegal and unconstitutional. At Washington there could be no business done, from a defect in the jury, but as the court was opened I stated in open court my objections to the constitutionality of his commission and was supported by others of the bar, the objections alarmed him much and he adjourned after trying that they had weight, and he would give them an attentive consideration. It may truly be said that the state is in more confusion now than at any period since the revolution. Letters from Savannah mention that the bar of that place have determined that there shall be no courts alleging a defect in the judiciary about the jurors oath they wish by this to procure a call of the legislature, should they effect this the whole Chatham representation now hold offices and that county must have a new election or be unrepresented except by James Jones.

NEW YORK, April 25.

The foreign accounts this day given were from London, speculations by the Ohio; they pointed new plans of campaign; the prospect of peace is generally out of view.

The Glasgow advertisement of 25 February has the following and etc.

Friday, the magistrates and town council gave an elegant entertainment, in the entire evening to his excellency Robert Ligon ambassador to the sublime Porte who we understand, goes out immediately as minister from this country to the United States of America.

It would appear that the Dutch fleet which lately sailed from the Texel, had well probably failed for Leggen in two ways to convey the East and West India home-ward bound ships which had to be kept together and were waiting for a conveyance.

A letter of 50000 florins has been proposed by the marine committee in Holland, the tickets to be distributed as a bounty for seamen to man their navy.

NORFOLK, April 18.

Extract of a letter from Martinique, to a gentleman in this town dated Port Royal 28th March.

Ten thousand troops are arrived at Barbadoes; 2000 at Grenada, and 2000 at St. Vincent; General Abercrombie and admiral Cornwallis are arrived at Barbadoes, with part of the Cook fleet; the remainder are hourly expected. A French ship from Guadaloupe with 900 hogsheads of sugar and coffee said to be the property of victor Hughes is captured by a frigate and sent into Antigua. An embargo took place here about ten days ago. This is sent you by a vessel which obtained liberty to sail for Baltimore.

ALEXANDRIA, April 12.

Captain Black, of the 4th Army, from St. Lucas, informs us that it was the city of Sevil and not Cadix that lately received a shock of an earthquake; the greatest part of it has been destroyed. He also says the king of Spain has had a conference on the frontiers of Portugal, with the Duke Regent. His Catholic majesty's mediation in negotiating a peace between Portugal and the Republic of France was supposed to be the purport of the meeting.

STAUNTON, April 22, 1796.

Extract of a letter from a respectable gentleman in Lexington (Virginia) to the editor, dated April 12, 1796.

Yesterday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon a fire broke out at Mr. Windle's stable from which it instantly extended to his dwelling house and with unparalleled rapidity to all the buildings near the main street until it was fortunately stopped at Mr. Buffs. The wind blowing a brisk gale between N.W. and West, and the extreme dryness of the season gave to the flames such a degree of violence that the utmost exertions of the inhabitants proved fruitless. The fire was sometimes carried by the wind to the distance of one hundred and fifty yards. The loss of the inhabitants was very considerable but a few minutes could be employed in refusing any kind of property about twenty dwelling houses, ten stores, a number of lumber barbed floors &c. were burnt. The whole damage cannot reasonably be estimated at less than thirty thousand pounds—many of the inhabitants in an hour were reduced from affluence to poverty.—The place exhibits a scene of desolation—providentially no lives were lost; although from the blowing up of houses by gun powder several people were badly wounded.

As every encouragement ought to be given to manufactures in this state, this in particular claims the attention of the public. The many advantages which will arise from manufacturing DUCK, and so forth, striking to every mind of reflection, that the managers think it unnecessary to enlarge on the subject, and the liberal principle upon which the scheme is founded (not two blanks to a prize) will, exclusive of that encouragement, justify the speculative adventurer upon principles of gain. The managers therefore flatter themselves that they will meet with such encouragement in the sale of the tickets as will in a short time justify their appointing and giving public notice when the drawing of the lottery will commence.

Tickets may be had by applying in Lexington to Mr. John Lunsford, or to Alexander D. Greer, in Frankfort to Mr. George Madison, or to Versailles to Doctor Preston, or to J. GRANT.

STRAYED from the subscriber early in April last, the following NEGROES, viz. A black man, about fourteen and a half years high, eight or nine years old, small stature, her forehead, it branded forgotten, one foot white, had on a common fine horse bell, fastened by a new leather collar and branded on the right of the mare, and two or three years old, it branded forgotten, a black in one eye from a late stroke, both mare and horse tolerable plights, trot and canters, and thin bones lately taken off. It is supposed they are on Hickman creek, on the Kentucky river above the mouth of said creek, as they were seen not far from Mr. Ballenger's shortly after they strayed, and as the mare was once the property of some person who then lived on Hickman creek, and of whom Mr. Edward S. Thomas had her in Fall 1795. And also a bay filly, two years old, neither docked nor branded, no white, and went away about the 25th March last. Whoever they are said horses, or either of them; the subscriber, or secures them, or either of them, so that he gets them again, shall receive for the three, twenty dollars, or fifteen for the mare and horse, and five for the filly, if delivered, or half thereof for information and securing.
